Bio

Digital Product Manager with 6+ years of experience leading digital products and technology-enabled solutions from discovery through delivery in complex, operationally intensive environments — including end-to-end HRIS implementation and multi-site technology infrastructure operations (networks, servers, applications) across three regions. Skilled at defining product goals and roadmaps, turning stakeholder and end-user needs into clear requirements and prioritized backlogs, and guiding delivery by working closely with technology teams. Experienced communicating product plans, progress and key decisions to business and technical stakeholders, and in using post-launch feedback and adoption data to inform continuous improvement.
